

2012

Functional Electrical Stimulation for Muscle Wasting in Equine Rehabilitation. (2012) 7th International Symposium on Veterinary Rehabilitation and Physical Therapy (ISVRPT) Proceedings. Vienna, Austria. The paper discusses the use of Functional Electrical Stimulation (FES) for the treatment of muscle wasting in horses. Case studies are outlined to show the outcome of the protocols utilizing FES. Used with permission, ISVRPT.

READ MORE

Functional Electrical Stimulation (FES) in Equine Rehabilitation: Initial observations. (2012) Proceedings Conference of the International Functional Electrical Stimulation Society, Smart Machines- Neural Evolution, Banff, AB, Canada. The use of Functional Electrical Stimulation (FES) in equine rehabilitation for atrophy and muscle spasms is discussed. Case studies are reviewed to document the protocols utilized. Used with permission, IFESS.

READ MORE

Boots on the Ground: Rehabilitation Protocols Utilized by Rehabilitation Facilities. (2012) Proceedings of the 8th Annual Promoting Excellence Symposium in the Southeast, Naples, Florida, October 11-14. Interviews with 5 leading rehabilitation centers in the United States compare and contrast the differences and similarities between rehabilitation protocols for several different types of injuries and surgeries. Used with permission, FAEP.

READ MORE